

Perkins Coie Recognized by Crain's as One of New York's 100 Best Places to Work in 2023

NEW YORK (September 28, 2023)—Perkins Coie is pleased to announce that it has been named as one of New York's "100 Best Places to Work" in 2023 by Crain's New York Business, ranking 22nd on the list of leading New York employers.

In the past year, Perkins Coie has further expanded its New York presence with the addition of a boutique law firm, Kluk Farber, to lead its capabilities in the city by serving emerging companies and venture capital clients. The firm has also grown the reach of its Digital Media & Entertainment, Gaming & Sports industry group, and its intellectual property capabilities have increased with the addition of patent prosecution partner Thomas Yee and his team.

"We're honored to once again be recognized by Crain's New York as a best place to work, and it really is a testament to all of our lawyers and business professionals," said Ronald T. Sarubbi, Perkins Coie's New York office managing partner. "Our New York office has grown rapidly in recent years in response to increased client demand for our legal counsel, and we are extremely well positioned to continue this strategic growth trajectory across key market sectors."

Crain's works with the Best Companies Group to conduct the research for the "Best Places to Work in New York City" list. Rankings are based on an employee survey and an employer questionnaire.
