

Marc Martin Quoted in Communications Daily—Lack of WH Communications Policy Point Person Raising Concerns

Partner Marc Martin was quoted in "Lack of WH Communications Policy Point Person Raising Concerns," an article in Communications Daily, regarding concerns over the lack of appointment for the White House communications point person to oversee telecommunications issues.

"The Biden administration successfully harnessed the stakeholders and resolved the dispute involving the FAA, FCC, aviation industry and wireless industry dispute over 5G network installations' proximity to airports," Marc said.
