

Hayden Schottlaender Mentioned in The Recorder—“A Sham Website”?: Chhabria Questions Legitimacy of Plaintiff in Subpoena to Unveil Anonymous Twitter User

Hayden Schottlaender was mentioned in The Recorder in an article titled "'A Sham Website'?: Chhabria Questions Legitimacy of Plaintiff in Subpoena to Unveil Anonymous Twitter User'. Hayden is mentioned as representing Twitter regarding a subpoena over an anonymous user.

Hayden said the fact that @CallMeMoneyBags hasn't posted on Twitter or appeared in the litigation since a court notice went out "should singularly show the sort of chilling concern that Twitter has here, that dragging users into litigation like this to defend their speech will impact further anonymous speech on Twitter's platform."
