

Britt Anderson Quoted in Managing IP—One Year On: TMA Proceedings Serve Purpose but Aren't Shoo-Ins

Partner Britt Anderson was quoted in "One Year On: TMA Proceedings Serve Purpose but Aren't Shoo-Ins," an article in *Managing IP, regarding a petition for expungement under the Trademark Modernization Act (TMA).

Britt says it's not always possible to prove that specimens are fake. But an argument that a specimen is likely false is pretty compelling in showing that the mark is not in use.

Preparing a good case may be just as much about how the information is organized as it is about what's in the petition, however. Anderson says a lot of parties that didn't get their petitions instituted hadn't created organized indexes, which is important to do.

Read the full article here on Managing IP.*

*Subscription-based publication

Contact

Britt L. Anderson

Partner

BAnderson@perkinscoie.com

Notice

Before proceeding, please note: If you are not a current client of Perkins Coie, please do not include any information in this e-mail that you or someone else considers to be of a confidential or secret nature. Perkins Coie has no duty to keep confidential any of the information you provide. Neither the transmission nor receipt of your information is considered a request for legal advice, securing or retaining a lawyer. An attorney-client relationship with Perkins Coie or any lawyer at Perkins Coie is not established until and unless Perkins Coie agrees to such a relationship as memorialized in a separate writing.

650.838.4835

Explore more in

Intellectual Property Law