

Articles

August 12, 2021

‘Long COVID’ Workers May Need ADA Accommodations

Employees with "long COVID"—who continue to experience ongoing symptoms for months afterward—may be entitled to accommodations under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), according to attorneys Jill L. Ripke, Lauren M. Kulpa, and Lara A. Grines.

Click here to read the full article in HRLaws.*

*Subscription-based publication

Authors

Jill L. Ripke

Senior Counsel

JRipke@perkinscoie.com 310.788.3260

Lauren M. Kulpa

Partner

LKulpa@perkinscoie.com 214.965.7713

Lara A. Grines

Associate

LGrines@perkinscoie.com 310.788.3232

Explore more in

Labor & Employment