

Updates

May 05, 2020

Using Deposition Technology While Sheltered in Place

As the COVID-19 pandemic continues to upend every aspect of our businesses and our economy, it is imperative that we adapt to the new normal of litigating successfully in a remote environment.

Through discussions with the top remote deposition technology providers and litigators throughout the country who have already participated in remote depositions, we have compiled a list of tips and best practices. This list will assist in effectively scheduling, preparing for, taking, and defending remote depositions.

Even after current quarantine and stay-at-home orders are lifted, remote depositions are likely to become the norm. This blog post discusses how litigators and litigants can benefit from the available technology to continue the deposition discovery process while quarantined in their home offices. The post also reviews the widespread acceptance of remote depositions in federal and state courts, the challenges and opportunities associated with remote depositions, and some guidance when it comes to selecting, practicing with, and using remote deposition technology.

© 2020 Perkins Coie LLP

Authors

Explore more in

Business Litigation Product Liability Litigation Patent Litigation

Related insights

Update

California Court of Appeal Casts Doubt on Legality of Municipality's Voter ID Law

Update

February Tip of the Month: Federal Court Issues Nationwide Injunction Against Executive Orders on DEI Initiatives