

As part of its assessment of the Guidelines for the Use of Environmental Marketing Claims (Green Guides), the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) will hold a workshop on May 23, 2023, to consider "recyclable" advertising claims and issues related to environmental claims.

The workshop is titled "Talking Trash at the FTC: Recyclable Claims and the Green Guides."

The event will feature panels covering topics including:

- The current state of recycling practices and recycling-related advertising in the United States.
- Consumer perception of current and emerging recycling-related claims.

• The need for updates or other changes to the Green Guides related to recycling claims.

See our previous blog post for more detail on the green advertising topics the FTC is considering.

Authors

Jason S. Howell

Partner
JHowell@perkinscoie.com 206.359.3134

Tim Carter

Associate TCarter@perkinscoie.com 650.838.4786

Nathan W. Kosnoff

Discovery Attorney
NKosnoff@perkinscoie.com 206.359.6673

Explore more in

Consumer Protection
Blog series

Consumer Protection Review

Consumer Protection Review helps businesses that market and sell to consumers navigate federal and state legal issues related to advertising, privacy, promotions, products liability, government investigations, unfair competition, class actions and general consumer protection. Subscribe?

View the blog