

The SEC has posted a notice about an open Commission meeting to be held next Wednesday during which it will consider adopting the share repurchase rules it proposed back in December 2021. This proposal included a number of controversial items, such as "real-time" reporting on Form SR. Here are the comments that the SEC received on this proposal - and here is our blog from when that proposal came out...

Explore more in

Corporate Law
Blog series

Public Chatter

Public Chatter provides practical guidance—and the latest developments—to those grappling with public company securities law and corporate governance issues, through content developed from an in-house perspective.

View the blog