

Blogs

November 25, 2024

Employers and Immigration Under The New Administration: What You Need To Know

With the new administration set to start next year, many employers are focused on immigration and how President-elect Trump's return to the White House may affect their workforce.

Though there remains a level of uncertainty regarding what immigration policies and priorities President-elect Trump may implement, his earlier term may shed some light on things employers should be mindful of before and during this transition of power.

Read the full update.

Authors

Explore more in

Regulatory Compliance & Disputes   Regulatory Roundup: Navigating a New Era

Topics

New Administration