

Publications

January 27, 2025

Labor Law Today—2024 Year in Review

We are delighted to present the sixth edition of Labor Law Today—Year in Review.

Our publication provides a summary of labor unions' activities and the evolving impact of automation and AI on the labor force in 2024, with essential insights applicable to employers and various industries, including technology, AI, healthcare, higher education, entertainment, and retail.

The report provides significant insights and detailed analysis that are crucial for understanding the current labor landscape and the future implications of technological advancements.

Key highlights from the report include:

1. General updates in labor law, including constitutional challenges, captive-audience meetings ban, Supreme Court decisions, and stay-or-pay agreements.
2. The impact of the 2024 presidential election on the National Labor Relations Board.
3. Automation and AI concerns.
4. AI and educators.
5. Federal and state AI regulations.
6. Increased strike activity.

Read the Report.

Authors

Explore more in

Labor & Employment Retail & Consumer Products Technology & Communications Digital Media & Entertainment, Gaming & Sports Artificial Intelligence & Machine Learning Healthcare Life Sciences & Healthcare Higher Education Energy & Natural Resources