CCPA Amendments Provide Important Clarification

On Friday the 13th of September 2019—the last day of California's Legislative Session—California lawmakers updated, finalized and sent six bills that would amend the California Consumer Privacy Act (CCPA) to Governor Newsom's desk for signature. Despite months of efforts from various groups, the CCPA made it through the legislative session with relatively fewer changes than expected. This update provides a brief overview of the six bills that made it out of both houses and how they will amend the CCPA. Read the full update here.
